Family Law Courses: Individuals who have practiced family law are exempt from these modules but are encouraged to take them as they are geared to working with these topics in family mediation.

Please inform our office prior to registration if any of the above noted exemptions apply to you.

Advanced notice is required if you are going to miss any sessions as they will need to be made up. Role play sessions require assignment of roles and therefore we really need to have this notice to change those assignments without prejudicing the mediators.
